

School Social Work
Association of America

International Journal of School Social Work

OPEN CALL FOR PAPERS

The School Social Work Association of America (SSWAA) is pleased to announce the launch of a new online journal, the International Journal of School Social Work (IJSSW). The IJSSW will strive to inform school social work practice both in the United States and abroad. This electronic journal will allow wider access to current empirical research, best practice and a variety of international perspectives with shorter wait times between manuscript acceptance and publication. All manuscripts will be peer reviewed and once accepted, will be available online and published immediately after final editing is complete. Manuscripts will be bundled into an issue when the needed numbers of manuscripts are complete in each section. The IJSSW has an international focus in five feature sections as a part of each issue:

- ✿ Evidence-Based articles (original research-case studies, secondary data analysis, qualitative studies, and quantitative work),
- ✿ Evidence-Informed Practices (critical reviews of established interventions in schools e.g. systematic reviews of researched practices),
- ✿ Practice Wisdom (narrative articles written by school social workers about what they are doing that works in their setting),
- ✿ International Practice (research on school social work practice abroad-description of services, etc.) and
- ✿ Student Perspectives (articles submitted by social work students describing their experiences as school social workers in both international and U.S. school contexts).

We have an OPEN CALL FOR PAPERS with a rolling deadline so papers are welcomed to be submitted anytime.

Submit a paper today and join our efforts to increase the impact of School Social Work around the world!

Please contact Leticia Villarreal Sosa, Editor-in-Chief at lvillarreal@dom.edu for additional details and submissions. Visit our website at <http://newprairiepress.org/ijssw/> for additional details and to start your submission process!